Jared Langley Roofing and Remodel
1440 Woodbine Place
Missoula, MT 59803

Dear Mr. Langley:

I am writing in response to some work that your company, (P & L Homes) did on my older home during this last few weeks.

I cannot express enough how pleased I am with the remodel job that your company did for me. Hoping that it would look nice when finished does not even compare to the actual result done by your staff. Rob really listened to the way that I wanted the finished project to look and came up with some wonderful suggestions on how to achieve just those results. He explained things, which could be done, that I would never have imagined could make the final project so homey and wonderful.

I was impressed with the crews of people who came and did their part in an orderly fashion to finish the job as quick and as precise as possible. The roofer, which came to put the new roof on did a remarkable job and the time that it took just him working alone was unbelievable considering that he did it in over 100 degree weather.

The fact that every day before they left, the work area was cleaned up and left in a way that I was not concerned that my child, or anyone for that matter, would be able to get hurt or fall on anything was very comforting to me. I had always heard that remodeling was a very stressful time but Rob and his crew proved that statement no to be an accurate one in this case of remodeling.

Your crews, in my opinion are a credit to your company and when I move on to the next faze of my remodeling, your company will be the only one that I will call. I have also bought many friends into my house just to show them the results of the job, which, Rob and his crews did. I will continue to tell people if they want exceptional work done in a timely fashion without all the stress and frustration normally felt in building or remodeling, to contact your company.

Thanks again for making my house feel like such a wonderful home.

Sincerely,

Sally LePiane
